DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 7 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Weston et al. Weston et al disclose a currency handling apparatus including a housing 2, cash stores 22, 24, 26 and a cash box 21; the apparatus is switchable to a float mode in which the serviceman replenishes the coin store, see col. 5, lines 36-40.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 2 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weston et al in view of British publication 2187021. Weston et al show a cash handling machine with all the features of the applicant's claimed invention except altering the operation of the machine upon receipt of a token. The British publication discloses a coin handling machine that alters its operation upon receipt of a token, see page 3, lines 83-98. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the showing and teaching of the British publication to provide the device of Weston et al with means to receive a token and means to alter the operation of the machine in response to receipt of the token. Merely calling for particular features to be activated by the receipt of the token would involve only an obvious matter of design choice to one of ordinary skill in the art.

4. Claims 4 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weston et al in view of Schuller et al. Weston et al show a cash handling machine with all the features of the applicant's claimed invention except the keypad. Schuller et al disclose a cash handling machine that includes keypad 25 for controlling the operation of the machine. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the showing and teaching of Schuller et al to provide the device of Weston et al with a keypad to control the operation of the machine.

5. Claim 6 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weston et al in view of Schuller et al. Weston et al show a cash handling machine with all the features of the applicant's claimed invention except the display of the coin levels in the coin store. Schuller et al disclose a display 29 that displays the amount of coins in the coin stores, see col. 48, lines 8-36. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the showing and teaching of Schuller et al to provide the device of Weston et al with a display to show the coin levels in the coin stores.

6. Claims 8 and 13-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weston et al in view of Hochriem. Weston et al show a cash handling machine with all the features of the applicant's claimed invention except the lockable door for the cash box. Hochriem shows a cash handling machine with a first cash store 7, 8 and 9 and a second cash store 48 including a lockable door 50 that allows access to the second cash store but not the first cash store, see page 3, lines 59-67. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the showing and teaching of Hochriem to provide the device of Weston et al with a lockable door for the cash box that would allow access to the cash box 21 but not the coin tubes 22, 24 and 26.

7. Claims 12 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weston et al in view of Schuller et al. Weston et al show a cash handling machine with all the features of the applicant's claimed invention except receiving remote instructions. Schuller et al disclose a cash handling machine that includes data ports 31 and 33 for receiving instructions from remote sources. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art in view of the showing and teaching of Schuller et al to provide the device of Weston et al with data ports to receive instructions from remote sources.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

8. Claims 1-7 and 14-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. These claims are indefinite because there is not sufficient structure included in claim 1 to perform the function claimed in the wherein clause. Particularly, no switch is claimed, nothing is claimed which would be responsive to an external operation, nothing is claimed which would control the machine in the normal and float modes and nothing is claimed which would increment credit value.

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claim 11 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

10. Claim 16 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Specification

11. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it includes claim-like language, such as: "means". Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

12.

The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

- (a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.
- (b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.
- (c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.
- (d) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC (See 37 CFR 1.52(e)(5) and MPEP 608.05. Computer program listings (37 CFR 1.96(c)), "Sequence Listings" (37 CFR 1.821(c)), and tables having more than 50 pages of text are permitted to be submitted on compact discs.) or

REFERENCE TO A "MICROFICHE APPENDIX" (See MPEP § 608.05(a). "Microfiche Appendices" were accepted by the Office until March 1, 2001.)

(e) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.

(1) Field of the Invention.

(2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.

(f) BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION.

(g) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).

(h) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.

(i) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).

(j) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).

(k) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

Priority

13. Receipt is acknowledged of papers filed under 35 U.S.C. 119 (a)-(d) based on an application filed in EPO on 28 December 2000. Applicant has not complied with the requirements of 37 CFR 1.63(c), since the declaration refers to a British application. A new oath, declaration or application data sheet is required in the body of which the present application should be identified by application number and filing date.

Drawings

14. The corrected or substitute drawings were received on 28 October 2002. These drawings are not accepted because they do not include reference numeral 38 referred to in line 14 of page 8 of the specification.
